

Legal Disclaimer

The Development Bank of Kazakhstan JSC (hereinafter referred to as - the “Bank”) maintains the www.kdb.kz website to enhance public access to the information about the current performance and initiatives of the Bank. All the materials contained in the web-site are displayed for general information purposes only.

The Bank makes every effort to ensure that the information in the web-site is accurate and up-to-date. Nevertheless, the Bank disclaims any liability for direct or indirect losses of whatsoever kind (material damage, lost profits, loss of important information, etc.) resulting from the use or inability to access the information contained herein.

The Bank provides no guarantee for the precision of the forecasts made in the Bank’s Strategy, Development Plan, analytical research papers, and other forward-looking statements of the Bank.

The web-site is copyright protected. Any use and reproducing of the materials contained in the web-site for commercial purposes must be coordinated with, and approved by, the authors of the materials.

Any reference to the web-site made for commercial purposes is prohibited. Moreover, reference to the web-site is required when using any part of the content of the web-site.

Links to other web-sites are provided for users’ convenience only. The Bank bears no responsibility for availability and accuracy of the information contained in those web-sites.

The Bank disclaims any liability for the content of the messages on the Bank’s forum, including content of the messages added by the employees, clients, and the subsidiary company of the Bank. The web-site does not automatically store personal information about the visitors and does not extend it to third parties without a user’s permission.